

Zetoc Alert – Electronic Table Of Contents alerting service.

This British Library database contains the Electronic Table of Contents (ETOC) of conference papers and thousands of journals. Zetoc is not a full-text database but the journal may be available electronically through another database or on the shelves of a University of Ulster Library. You can obtain a photocopy of a journal article by submitting a document delivery request.

By setting up a Zetoc Alert list you will be E-mailed the contents pages of:

A: a newly printed journal, and / or B: any articles with specific keywords in their title, so that you can check their relevance to your current research. The examples below shows how to set up a Zetoc Alert.

1. Connect on the Internet to the University of Ulster Library's database page:

<http://library.ac.uk/electronic>

2. Click on the letter Z on the A-Z list of Titles line near the top of the screen.
